Herefordshire Historic Churches Trust

HEREFORDSHIRE HISTORIES FESTIVAL

Artisan Art in Herefordshire – insights into Early Modern, Everyday Life.

Most late 16th and early 17th century houses had some form of painted decoration on their walls, usually in big bold designs and often in strikingly bright colours. By looking at these and other aspects of early modern life, Dr. Kathryn Davies explores what mattered to their owners, what they wanted to show off and how they lived their everyday lives. She has just published a book on the subject with Logaston Press.

St. Mary the Virgin's Church, Pembridge

HR6 9HH

Entry free - retiring collection

2.30 pm. Tuesday 13th May

Further talks will be held in the county during the Herefordshire Histories Festival which runs from 10th – 18th May 2025. Please see the website for details.

www.hhct.co.uk

Herefordshire Historic Churches Trust

HEREFORDSHIRE HISTORIES FESTIVAL

'The Early Church in Herefordshire: Twenty Five Years On.'

At a conference in 2000 Prof. Keith Ray, then Herefordshire's County Archaeologist, spoke about the material evidence for the successive Roman, British and Anglo-Saxon ecclesiastical establishments. This talk will reprise the subject (documentary and material evidence for the 'Early Church' in the county) with particular reference to new finds and fresh insights.

St. George's Church, Orleton SY8 4HU

2.30 pm. Saturday

17th May

Entry free - retiring collection

www.hhct.co.uk

Further talks will be held in the county during the Herefordshire Histories Festival which runs from 10th – 18th May 2025. Please see the website for details.